

Problem Statement

Drinking is a massive problem, and many do it. But instead of stopping a impossible problem. Instead create an app with calculations on how to drink responsibly.

Details

In my experience so far, especially in college. There are a lot of people who overdrink and cannot control what decisions they make or how they act. I propose a creation of an app that calculates a safe amount to drink based off body weight, temperature, etc. The app also will offer ride options at the cheapest rate filtering through Uber, Lyft, etc.
